There was a variety of workshops to attend and a lot of expertise to talk to and get ideas from.

Very inspirational speakers - particularly the two heads. Convinced me that we should be putting more emphasis on physical activity. It's worth the change of emphasis away from Maths and English.

The need to get the whole school on board with the importance of PE.

Having being there for the first time it was interesting to see that PE was just as important to the people there as it is to me. The keynote speakers really helped in terms of how I can push PE and activity in my school.

Confidence in what our school is doing already and new ideas for our school can start to implement.
